Treatment Questions

The number of 'OFF' periods you experience is likely to increase as your Parkinson's Disease progresses.

It is important you monitor your 'OFF' periods and the different symptoms you experience, so that you can report them to your doctor, who will work with you to adapt your treatment plan where appropriate.

- Your Parkinson's Disease symptoms re-appear and are at or near their worst
- Symptoms such as tremor, slowness, stiffness, difficulty moving or walking and/or trouble getting around re-appear
